

Free Legal Services for Native American Victims of Domestic Violence and Other Crimes

Northwest Justice Project has services available for Native American crime victims. An NJP attorney is available to provide advice, brief services and referrals in civil (non-criminal) legal matters stemming from the client's experience as a crime victim. The crime does not need to be reported or prosecuted.

Examples of legal problems include:

- Family Law matters such as divorce, custody and protection orders involving domestic violence or sexual assault, especially when the case is in tribal court or the client believes it should be in tribal court; or when tribal court orders are not enforced.
- Health matters including denial of health care services or assistance in obtaining mental health services to deal with victimization.
- Housing problems such as evictions or needing to break a lease due to a crime in the home.
- Financial security issues such as medical bills, utility access and other consumer problems caused by an assault, abuse, or fraud.
- Other legal problems resulting from being a victim of crime.

If you are a Native American crime victim seeking legal assistance, ask a tribal service provider or a staff member of an organization that serves Native Americans for a referral. Social services staff or tribal advocates can refer clients to the NJP's Native American Crime Victims' program by sending a referral form.
